Moonlight & Stars Benefit Dinner

Celebrating IEA's 15 years of connecting bright young minds and recognizing

Dr. Henri Ford

Mr. Stan Kong

for their generous service to IEA's Apprenticeship Program and the Los Angeles community

Friday, October 18, 2013

at the home of Kate Duey and Bob Malchione
489 Berkshire Avenue
La Cañada-Flintridge, California 91011

Proceeds from this event will support IEA's programs and services for gifted students and will help us continue inspiring youth to reach for the stars!

Welcome

Welcome to the Institute for Educational Advancement's Moonlight & Stars Benefit Dinner. Over the past 15 years, we have had the privilege of working with remarkable bright young minds. In doing so, we have also had the honor of meeting extraordinary people. Dr. Henri Ford and Mr. Stan Kong are two of these individuals, and we are humbled by their dedication to IEA.

As an organization, we believe in exploration for knowledge, challenge for understanding, and problem solving and creativity for innovation. We embrace the fact that, as powerful as the mind of a gifted child is, it cannot fully develop without nurturing the heart. Dr. Ford and Mr. Kong not only get it, they live it.

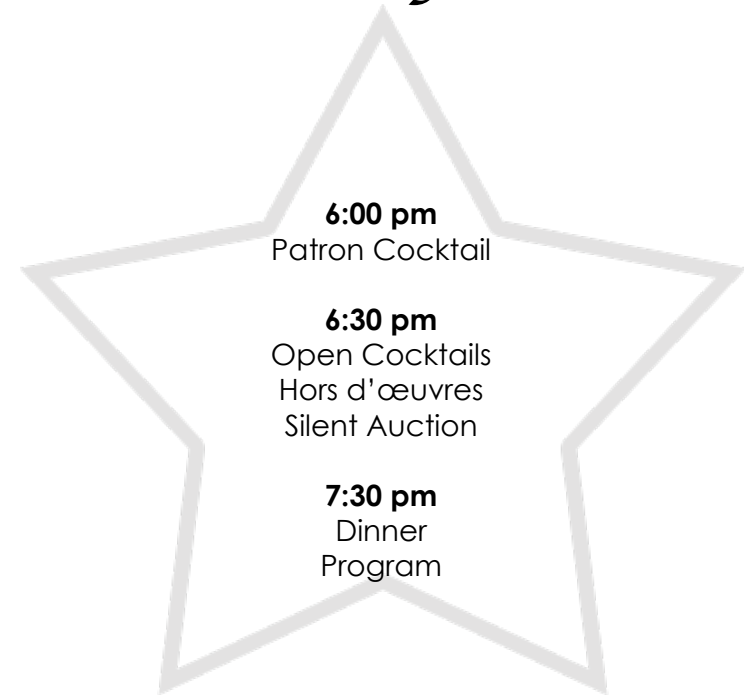

The gift of time and support these amazing individuals have provided has not only impacted the individual lives of their Apprentices, 179 in total; it will also have an exponential bearing on the quality of life for generations to come. Their donation of intellectual stimulation, communicated excitement, and joy in the learning process underscores the importance of passion, creativity, and integrity in living a life of purpose. Dr. Ford and Mr. Kong are brilliant and talented individuals with tremendous heart.

It is impossible to know exactly what the young people they work with will go on to do, but I know that it will be transformative and have a positive impact on society. Thank you for your personal and professional vision, creativity, and generosity.

With Gratitude,
Betsy Jones

★ Dr. Henri Ford ★

*Vice President & Chief of Surgery,
Children's Hospital Los Angeles
Professor of Surgery & Vice Dean for Medical Education, Keck School of Medicine
IEA Apprenticeship Mentor for 7 Years*

Dr. Henri Ford volunteered to be an IEA Apprenticeship Mentor in 2006 and has since mentored 17 bright young high school students. His students come from all over the country and are eager to work with this talented physician and valued member of the community. IEA's Apprenticeship Program allows gifted students a unique opportunity to work with this leader in the field of medicine and research.

Dr. Ford currently oversees the entire perioperative services area at Children's Hospital Los Angeles (CHLA). Under his leadership, CHLA has developed a robust, state of the art, minimally invasive surgery program. In his role at the Keck School of Medicine, Dr. Ford advances the school's mission by promoting excellence in medical education as one of its highest priorities.

Dr. Ford has conducted the definitive studies on pediatric trauma in the United States and his investigative studies have generated new insights in the pathogenesis of necrotizing enterocolitis, the most common and the most lethal disorder affecting the gastrointestinal tract of newborn infants. Over the years, Apprentices have worked with Dr. Ford and his team to further study this disorder.

Over the years, IEA Apprentices have gratefully credited Dr. Ford with their understanding of how to conduct and present scientific research.

"Dr. Ford and the researchers in the Ford laboratory have contributed immensely to my intellectual and personal growth. They were very open and supportive. Furthermore, seeing the compassionate way in which Dr. Ford interacted with patients has been incredibly inspiring for me and is something that has made a lasting impact on the kind of doctor I hope to be in the future."

– Angela Hu, 2011 Apprentice

★ Mr. Stan Kong ★

*Head of Product Design,
Pasadena City College
Graduate Industrial Design Program Faculty
Member, Art Center College of Design
IEA Apprenticeship Mentor for 14 Years*

In 1999, Mr. Stan Kong became an IEA Industrial Design Apprenticeship Mentor because he wanted to give younger art students more accessible exposure to the study of Industrial Design.

By offering an Apprenticeship in Industrial Design at Art Center, IEA gives high school students first-hand experience in this field by having them design projects as well as learn design methodologies, including research, concept development, refinement, and final design presentation over a three-week session. Mr. Kong has mentored more than 150 students through the program.

Mr. Kong was a creative kid who didn't know what to do with his life. "When I was a young student, I did a lot of art and made things constantly," he explains. "By the time I got to Pasadena City College, I had taken a ton of art classes and was on my way to becoming a graphic designer. I just happened to take a class in Industrial Design, and through that experience realized that was what I wanted to do. It is purely by chance that many artists, myself included, stumble into Industrial Design as a career choice."

Apprentices throughout the years have always given Mr. Kong rave reviews, praising him for the encouraging way he opens their eyes to so many possibilities in the Industrial Design field and inspiring them to make the world a better place.

"Stan taught me that everyone should not have a dream to have a job, but to be passionate about it."

– 2012 Apprentice

"Stan taught me how to enjoy and look at life."

– Scott Zenteno, 2010 Apprentice

Auction Rules

For the Silent Auction

- Make sure that your name and bid amount are clearly placed on the sheet that corresponds to the item you would like to purchase. Any illegible bids will be excluded.
- Incremental bids must equal or exceed the stated minimum increase required for the item.
- Placing a bid on an item constitutes an offer, which, if accepted by IEA, constitutes a binding purchase contract.
- Upon closing of the Silent Auction, all bidding must stop. The highest bid in conformance with these rules at that time will be deemed the winning bid. In the event of a dispute, IEA shall act as the final authority and shall determine the winning bid.

Please Note

- Winning bids for all items are to be paid in full at the conclusion of the event. Payment may be made by check, cash, Visa, or MasterCard.
- All sales are final. No exchanges or refunds. Everything is sold "as is." IEA assumes no responsibility for the validity of the description, authenticity, or condition of any item offered for sale.
- All activities and services are subject to availability. A minimum of 30 days advance notice is suggested unless otherwise stated. The conditions and terms of the items must be adhered to.
- All items and services are non-transferrable.
- Unless otherwise stated, all items and services expire within one year of the date of the event.

Waiver, Release of Liability and Disclaimer

As a condition of sale, the buyer waives any claims for liability against IEA. IEA is not liable for any damage and/or injury that may result from the purchase of, participation in, or the use of any donated item or service. The purchaser of the item or service agrees to, and expressly does, release and hold IEA harmless from any claims for liability for any such damage and/or injury. IEA makes no representation or warranties as to any donated item or service.

IEA has attempted to describe and catalog all items correctly. IEA neither warrants nor represents, and shall in no event be responsible for, the correctness of the descriptions, genuineness, authorship, provenance, or condition of the property. No statement contained in this program or made orally at the sale shall be deemed such a warranty, representation, or assumption of liability.

IEA is a qualified, non-profit organization. Tax ID number: 95-4695698. Please consult your tax advisor for tax deduction allowances.

Speakers & Contributors

Clara Wang, Speaker

2010 IEA Apprentice at Children's Hospital Los Angeles

Clara joined IEA's Apprenticeship Program as a high school junior. The program provided the invaluable opportunity to do medical research and shadow Dr. Henri Ford, Surgeon-In-Chief, and Dr. Jeffrey Upperman, Director of Trauma, in operation rooms at Children's Hospital Los Angeles (CHLA) and confirmed her interest in studying medicine. Dr. Ford has continued to be a mentor to her, and she attributes her accomplishments to his guidance. Currently a junior in USC's prestigious B.A./M.D. program and doing stem cell research at the Saban Research Institute, Clara also runs a student organization called Vision for Vision, which provides free vision checkups for medically underserved populations. She will be attending USC Keck School of Medicine in 2015 and thanks IEA for helping her realize her dream.

Thomas Zenteno, Speaker

2008 IEA Apprentice at Art Center College of Design

Born in Miami, Florida, Thomas Zenteno attended Design and Architecture Senior High School (DASH), where he studied Product Design, Transportation Design and Illustration. He developed a voracious drive to push himself and learn as much as he could in the visual arts.

He attended IEA's Apprenticeship Program in the summer of 2008 and decided to attend Art Center soon after. Thomas is currently working as a freelance Concept Artist in Pasadena, CA, while working towards his B.S. in Entertainment Design. Thomas has worked for clients such as Disney, Badrobot, The Aerospace Corporation, Thinkwell Group, Lin Pictures (WB) and Animal Logic.

Talya Klinger, Recognition Award Artist

2012 Caroline D. Bradley Scholar

Talya's obsession with glass began when she combed the beaches of California's Central Coast as a toddler. Before she could even reach the furnace door, she began blowing and fusing under the guidance of master glass artists. Her work has been featured in numerous exhibits, earning her several best of shows and first place awards for her glass figurines, vessels, and sculptures, as well as her torch work and recycled glass art. She donates her prize money to shelters for homeless families and abandoned animals. Talya is also an avid coastal cleanup volunteer. She is deeply grateful to IEA for its generous support and for the opportunity to contribute awards, made of murine and dichroic glass, to Moonlight and Stars' honorees.

CONNECTING BRIGHT YOUNG MINDS; NURTURING INTELLECTUAL AND PERSONAL GROWTH

Mission

The Institute for Educational Advancement (IEA) is dedicated to the intellectual, creative, and personal growth in our nation's gifted and high potential youth. Central to the mission of IEA is a commitment to the development of the whole child through engaging learning experiences that promote optimal challenge, mentorship, exploration of ideas, and recognition of personal potential. IEA seeks to connect like-minded individuals and supports a diverse community that creates a sense of belonging and affirmation.

★ Programs and Services ★

Academy provides young students with challenging enrichment classes that focus on exploration and application of knowledge.

Apprenticeship links gifted students with mentors who advance each participant's skills through the application of knowledge and exposure to real world experiences.

The Caroline D. Bradley Scholarship awards highly gifted students with a four-year scholarship to a high school that fits their individual intellectual and personal needs.

Consulting Services are available for individuals and school districts to expand the knowledge base for effectively meeting the unique needs of highly gifted students.

Gifted Child Parent Support Group Meetings provide support and community as well as explore ways to meet gifted children's needs.

The Gifted Resource Center provides free access to customized information for gifted students through searchable databases.

Yunasa summer camps unite highly able youngsters with experts in the social and emotional development of gifted children. Campers explore and grow the intellectual, spiritual, emotional, social, and physical aspects of their lives.

*"Every great dream begins with a dreamer. Always remember, you have within you the strength, the patience, and the passion to reach for the stars to change the world."
—Harriet Tubman*

Thank you, IEA Senior Fellows, for showing us how to reach for the stars!
